

Gretchen Holbrook Gerzina Research Collection
PVMA Library

Professor Gretchen Gerzina, and her husband, Anthony, spent hundreds of hours researching her book Mr. and Mrs. Prince: How an Extraordinary 18th-Century Family Moved Out of Slavery and Into Legend (New York: Harper Collins, 2008) in the PVMA library's collection of manuscripts, account books, and daybooks. Lucy Terry (later Prince) lived with the Wells family on Old Deerfield's main street as an enslaved servant until her marriage to Abijah Prince in 1756. Although unpublished, she is known as the first African American poet. Abijah Prince lived much of his life as a slave in Northfield, Massachusetts. He served in the French and Indian wars of the 1740s and became a free man and entrepreneur. These two former slaves married, became property owners, and original settlers of Vermont.

The Gerzina's research files that supported the writing of her remarkable book were donated to the Pocumtuck Valley Memorial Association in 2015. They contain notes and photocopies of materials researched here and elsewhere, and supplement the contents of Mr. and Mrs. Prince.
